NCR Pulse Real-Time

Want access to actionable information at your fingertips?

Pulse Real-Time embraces the idea of delivering actionable information in real time to a user's smartphone. Operators experience the nirvana of knowing exactly what is going on in the business, regardless of where they are. By turning data collected from the POS system into actionable information, operators can immediately make decisions that directly impact the bottom line.

Results Matter.

Create more hours in the day using Pulse Real-Time and manage your business operations effectively without spending hours in the office. Pulse Real-Time delivers up to the minute operational measurements, including:

- Net sales by hour, day part, category and order mode
- Labor dollars and percentage by job code
- Comps and voids
- Employee performance
- Payment details
- And many more…

Gone are the days of waiting for cumbersome reports to be generated after the business day, Pulse Real-Time provides actionable information during the business day that can't be found anywhere else. Now, from any location, operators can make timely business decisions that directly improve profits.
